FRAMEWORK FOR PSYCHOLOGY DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

To ensure that you receive an appropriately broad and well-balanced education at MSU, psychology majors must satisfy the requirements of three separate units that represent three administrative levels: the University, the College of Social Science, and the Department of Psychology. You must meet the graduation requirements of each unit. In addition, you will need to choose elective coursework to achieve the minimum number of 120 credits (123 if you take MTH 1825) for a degree. You must complete 30 credits at the 300 or 400 level. An illustration of the degree framework is shown below.

<tr>
<td>WRA, Integrative Studies, Math</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Psychology (31 credits)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>College (30 credits)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Of the 120 credits required, 30 credits need to be at the 300 or 400 levels.

Complete a minimum of 120 credits (123 if you take MTH 1825).

The following is a brief summary of University requirements; however, the Academic Programs handbook is the official source for University policy.

- Complete a minimum of 120 credits with a 2.0 or better MSU GPA; 123 credits with MTH 1825.
- Achieve a 2.0 or better Psychology GPA at MSU.
- Complete a minimum of 30 credits at MSU with a minimum of 27 credits on the East Lansing campus after junior status.
- Earn a minimum of 20 credits while in the major.
- Courses used to satisfy specific degree requirements may not be taken CR/NC.
- No more than 10 of a student’s last 30 credits may be transferred from a 4-year accredited college/university. PRIOR APPROVAL IS REQUIRED.
- No more than 56 credits will be accepted from a 2-year institution.

Note: Before taking a course at another institution, you should clearly understand the MSU policy on transferability of courses. For more detailed information, go to www.admis.msu.edu/transfer.asp and consult with your academic advisor.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

If you have been a high-achieving, conscientious student and are motivated to dedicate yourself to a much higher level of scholarly reading, writing, and research in a specific field, you may be a good candidate for graduate school. You must be able to demonstrate your commitment to academic success by what you have achieved in your undergraduate program. Graduate school is not something you just fall into because you haven’t chosen what to do next with your life or because you are worried about employment opportunities or salary. A graduate degree does not guarantee you a job or a high salary.

Graduate study in psychology consists of advanced training in a specific area. It should be viewed as professional training for a career, not just an extension of undergraduate courses. Consider very carefully why you want to go to graduate school and what your expectations are. You will also need to know which area of psychology you want to pursue.

Competition for admission is intense. Only the most qualified students are admitted. About 25 percent of psychology majors go on to some form of graduate study. For a good program, meeting the minimum standards for admission is not usually sufficient; you must do more. For example, the minimum GPA for entering most Ph.D. programs is a 3.2, but students who are actually admitted have a much higher GPA (generally a 3.5 or higher). Some programs place more emphasis on the GPA earned during the junior and senior years. Your undergraduate GPA and coursework, Graduate Record Exam (www.gre.org) scores, letters of reference, research and clinical experiences, and personal statement must show that you will be a successful graduate student.

Due to the breadth and diversity of courses in the psychology degree, students can apply to graduate school within the field of psychology or choose to apply to other related programs. Programs that are very popular that are not within our psychology department are: School Psychology, Social Work, Labor and Industrial Relations-Human Resources, Counseling, Sports Psychology, Student Affairs, and Public Policy. Many Psychology majors also choose to go on to professional programs like law and medical school.

Additional information on many of these graduate programs can be found in the Undergraduate Psychology Advising Center, 100 Psychology Building. Check out our Career Connection Series to learn more about what is needed for these programs. There are also graduate school books that can be checked out of the lending library.

Meeting with advisors and faculty is imperative for finding out how to apply to graduate school and to decide whether or not it is a good option for your career plans. Understanding how to get there and what it entails takes time and a lot of planning. Don’t wait until it is too late!
CAREER OPTIONS FOR PSYCHOLOGY GRADUATES

Approximately seventy-five percent of psychology graduates go directly into the workforce with a bachelor’s degree. Graduates of our department can compete effectively with other students who obtained a general/liberal arts education, as well as those who opted for more specialized curricula. Your performance as a psychology major and your willingness to prepare for a variety of career options will influence your attractiveness to employers and eventual career placement. Preparing for the job market and building your career take planning and effort over a long period of time. You should take steps each semester, beginning with your freshman year, toward this end. Strive to incorporate the following into your undergraduate experience from a combination of course selections and other activities:

- Oral and written communication skills
- Critical thinking
- Leadership
- Computer literacy
- Teamwork
- Problem solving
- Research methodology
- Problem solving
- Work experience

Required:

Elective courses in Psychology to reach 31 credits.

The elective courses in Psychology can come from independent study (PSY 490 & 491), practicum (PSY 371/372), internship (PSY 381/382) or elective classes not listed above (PSY 239- Psychology Of Women, 290-Psychology Careers, 310-Psychology and Biology Of Human Sexuality, 320-Health Psychology, 330- Personality: A Psychoanalytic Perspective, 344-Developmental Psychology: Adolescence & Youth, 492-Special Topics in Psychology). You may also select additional courses from the above categories.

*PSY 493 expanded descriptions and prerequisites are also available on the Psychology undergraduate website. Each section of PSY 493 covers a different topic.

EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING FOR CREDIT

An internship or practicum provides an opportunity to explore career possibilities and to develop communication and organizational skills. Many employers expect college graduates to have practical, work-related experience. Learning about the world of work and making contacts in your chosen field are essential tools for landing your first job. Instructor permission is required for these courses.

ADOLESCENT DIVERSION PROJECT
PSY 371/372 (8 credits)
The Adolescent Diversion Project is a two-semester commitment in which the student is trained and then mentors an adolescent involved in the juvenile justice system. This opportunity is offered every semester.
Contact Sean Hankins at 517-355-9519 or hankinss@msu.edu. http://www.msu.edu/course/psy/371/

PSYCHOLOGY INTERNSHIP
PSY 381/382 (9-15 credits)
This course is a two-semester commitment. PSY 381 is in the spring and is a training and theory course. In PSY 382, students apply theory to practice. This internship is offered online in the summer. Internships are required to be in the human services field. Contact Sarah Handspike at 517-353-7271 or meadsara@msu.edu OR contact Cris Sullivan at 353-8867 or sulliv22@msu.edu for more information.

COLLEGE OF SOCIAL SCIENCE INTERNSHIP
SSC 493 (3-12 credits)
Internships are offered through the College of Social Science in various areas of interest depending on your career goals. Contact Shari Cisco at 517-353-6783 or ciscos@msu.edu. http://www.socialscience.msu.edu/current/internship.html

Another opportunity for credit is independent study. Independent studies are important for students planning to apply for graduate school. This experience gives students great opportunities to work with faculty in the research environment.

INDEPENDENT STUDY
PSY 490/491 (1-12 credits)
Research opportunities are advertised on the Psychology web page. It is also possible to contact a faculty member directly to set up an independent study in an area that interests you. Visit our web page (under Degree Enhancements) at: http://www.psychology.msu.edu/undergrad

College Restrictions on Experiential Learning
The total of independent study, practicum, internship, and field experience credits may not exceed 20 credits combined. If you have questions, contact a Psychology Advisor.

- A maximum of 12 credits of independent study may be applied toward the degree.
- A maximum of 12 credits in internship, field experience, and practicum courses combined may be applied toward the degree. PSY 371/372 and 381 do not count against this limit.
GENERAL ELECTIVES

General Electives are any courses that do not meet any specific course requirement. This is your chance to explore and expand your knowledge in other areas of interest. Psychology students usually have 26-28 credits of general electives. These courses will count toward the 120/123 minimum credits required for graduation. Elective courses taken at the 300+ will also satisfy the upper level requirement. Excess credits from University, College or PSY requirements are considered General Electives, also. When completing electives, you can take a diversity of courses from all different disciplines. If you would rather have them more focused, you may choose to complete a specialization, additional major, or second degree.

Some of the more popular departments Psychology majors select from are:

CEP  Counseling, Educational Psychology and Special Education
COM  Communication
EAD  Educational Administration
KIN  Kinesiology
IDES  Interior Design
TE  Teacher Education
ACC  Accounting
JRN  Journalism
PRR  Parks, Recreation and Tourism Resources
TC  Telecommunication
ADV  Advertising

SPECIALIZATION

Specializations can be found on the MSU website at http://www.msu.edu/ucc/specializations.asp. Specializations are usually between 15-20 credits. These courses can be from all different departments. Some popular specializations for PSY majors are Health Promotion, Coaching, Women's Studies, Peace and Justice, and Dance. Completed specializations are listed on your transcript. There is a binder in the Undergraduate Psychology Advising Center that has requirements and handouts for many of the specializations.

ADDITIONAL MAJOR

Another option available to psychology majors is completing an additional major in another discipline. An additional major is noted on your final transcript. Most disciplines offer an additional major, though the requirements for each can be very different. Most additional majors range between 24-60 credits. You should contact the academic advisor in the discipline you are interested in for more information and to sign up.

SECOND DEGREE

Second degrees are available for students wanting two diplomas. The University requires students pursuing a second degree to do a minimum of 30 credits beyond their first degree. Department and college requirements are usually required to be completed. A second degree can be added by meeting with an advisor in the area of interest.
