

PSY-410, Section 001
Neuroscience of Learning & Memory, Fall 2024
Mon & Wed, 8:30am-9:50am

Class Location:
Snyder Hall C301

Instructor Info:

Dr. Amy Arguello

Office: ISTB 4010

Email: arguell5@msu.edu

Hours: Zoom, By appointment

Course Description:

We will discuss and evaluate 1) current theories of learning and memory, 2) human and animal research used to understand specific aspects of learning and memory, 3) the neurobiology underlying learning and memory-including synaptic plasticity, molecular, cellular and systems processes. Emphasis will be placed on critical analysis of primary literature and current methodologies used in the learning and memory field.

Supplemental Reading:

There is no required textbook for this course. Supplemental reading will be assigned and posted on D2L from these sources: 1) Primary literature, 2) The Neurobiology of Learning and Memory (2014) by Jerry W. Rudy, 2nd Ed, 3) Learning and Memory (2008) by Howard Eichenbaum, 1st Ed.

Grading:

1. Attendance and Participation: Total possible points: 10.0
 - Participation during discussions is an essential component of the class and attendance is mandatory.
 - There will be 10 opportunities to gain attendance/participation points, 1 point/class.
2. Weekly Pre-discussion Posts: Total possible points: 10.0
 - 1/2 to 1-pg, written summaries of discussion articles
 - Five summaries (up to 2.0 points each) will be due.
3. Midterm Exam: Total possible points: 15.0
 - Short answer and essay questions based on lectures and primary literature discussed during class.
4. Group Presentation: Total possible points: 15.0
 - Groups will choose from a list of articles and lead the analysis and discussion. 10.0 points
 - Audience groups will develop 1-2 questions for post-presentation discussion. 5.0 points
5. Neurobiological Mechanism Take-home Exam: Total possible points: 15.0
 - Short answer and essay questions based on primary literature discussed during class.
6. Final Paper: Total possible points: 35.0
 - 5-page, double-spaced research paper (Detailed final paper rubric posted on D2L).
 - You will 1) Review and critically analyze an assigned article, as per class discussions.
 - 2) Support your arguments based on the theories of learning and memory discussed in class.
 - 3) Design a novel experiment to test your hypothesis using techniques discussed in class.
 - You will turn in the final paper in sections for feedback and have the option to revise 2 sections.
Intro, Methods, Results, Discussion, Future Directions

*For all assignments, detailed rubrics will be posted on D2L and outlined in lecture slides. Lecture slides will be posted on D2L after class. It is essential that your D2L notification settings for this class are enabled.

Class Dates:

24 25	Mon 11/25 Wed 11/27	BREAK (In class individual, if needed) BREAK	11/28, 11/29 break
26 27	Mon 12/2 Wed 12/4	Group-led Discussion #4 Group-led Discussion #5	Final Paper Due (11/27-12/7)
-	Mon 12/9 - Fri 12/13	NO FINALS

Grades will be assigned on the following scale:

90-100% = 4.0	75-79% = 2.5	<60% = 0.0
85-89% = 3.5	70-74% = 2.0
80-84% = 3.0	65-69% = 1.5

Additional Important Information:

Academic Honesty: The Spartan Code of Honor states, "As a Spartan, I will strive to uphold values of the highest ethical standard. I will practice honesty in my work, foster honesty in my peers, and take pride in knowing that honor is worth more than grades. I will carry these values beyond my time as a student at MSU, continuing the endeavor to build personal integrity in all that I do." Plagiarism or cheating, use of generative AI to answer exam questions or to create the final paper may result in a failing grade on an assignment or in the course. If you have any questions on this topic, please make an appointment so that we can address your questions. Professionalism in Class:

Technology: This course is an upper-level, discussion-based class. As such, please respect both your instructor and fellow classmates by silencing all electronic devices or choosing a seat toward the back of the class.

Disruptive Behavior: Article 2.3.5 of the Academic Freedom Report (AFR) for students at MSU states: "The student's behavior in the classroom shall be conducive to the teaching and learning process for all concerned." Article 2.3.10 states that "The student has a right to scholarly relationships with faculty based on mutual trust and civility." General Student Regulation 5.02 states: "No student shall... interfere with the functions and services of the University such that the function or service is obstructed or disrupted." Students whose conduct adversely affects the learning environment may be subject to disciplinary action via the Student Faculty Judiciary process.

Missed Classes or Exams: Make-up exams will only be given in case of: 1) a documented medical or family emergency, or 2) a documented scheduled conflict, such as a religious holiday or required participation in a university-sanctioned event. The instructor must be notified of the above-mentioned conflict by email as soon as possible, otherwise a grade of 0.0 for that exam will be earned. For missed classes with no official documented excuse, 0.37 point will be subtracted as noted in the "attendance and participation" section.

Limits to confidentiality: Class materials are generally considered confidential pursuant to the University's student record policies. However, students should be aware that University employees, including instructors, may not be able to maintain confidentiality when it conflicts with their responsibility to report certain issues to protect the health and safety of MSU community members and others. As the instructor, I must report the following information to other University offices if you share it with me: 1) suspected child abuse/neglect, even if maltreatment happened when you were a child, 2) allegations of sexual assault or sexual harassment when they involve MSU students, faculty or staff or 3) credible threats of harm to oneself or to others. These reports may trigger contact from a campus official who will want to talk with you about the incident that you have shared. In almost all cases, it will be your decision whether you wish to speak with that individual. If you would like to talk about these events in a more confidential setting you are encouraged to make an appointment with the MSU Counseling Center.

Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: MSU is committed to providing equal opportunity for participation in all program, services and activities. Requests for accommodations by persons with disabilities may be made by contacting the Resource Center for Persons with Disabilities at 517-884-RCPD or at the link below. Once your eligibility for an accommodation has been determined, you will be issued a Verified Individual Services Accommodation (VISA) form. Please present this form to me at the start of the term and/or two weeks prior to the accommodation date. Requests received after this date may not be honored.
